Military Parts Exchange LLC completes acquisition of Dynatech International Corp.

Fort Lauderdale, Fl. - On August 6, 2009, Military Parts Exchange LLC ("MPX") completed the acquisition of Dynatech International Corp. ("Dynatech"), a global distributor of engine components for military aircraft for over 35 years. Dynatech provides aerospace component supply chain management and value-added logistics support services to maintenance, repair and overhaul facilities ("MROs") and overseas governments. This transaction will provide immediate benefits to both companies. According to Isaac Robinson, President of Dynatech, "We will now have the resources to rapidly grow our business by improving the services provided to our customers and significantly expanding the platforms we actively support." "MPX will leverage Dynatech's marketing experience and global distribution network to proactively sell its parts to MROs and overseas governments" said Eric Klar, President and CEO of MPX.

With in excess of 400,000 line items in stock, MPX is a global supplier of military aircraft parts and equipment in support of a wide variety of fixed-wing and rotary aircraft platforms.
